Recognition of Teacher of the Year Club

Recognition of Honored Retirees

Mary “Kaki” Block

Kaki Block joined the D.C. Everest faculty in 1986 to teach Chapter I at Weston, first grade at Schofield in 1987, and fifth grade at Rothschild in 1988 through 2010. She is a dedicated professional with an enthusiasm for teaching, always receptive to new ideas. Kaki was a constant resource and promoter of social studies and reading. She challenged her students while giving them many opportunities for success.

Brent Brye

Brent Brye became a D.C. Everest Junior High faculty member in 1988 as a Spanish teacher. He enjoyed incorporating his travel experiences from Spain, Ecuador, Italy, and Norway into his teaching. Brent shared his enthusiasm for downhill skiing with students through his advisorship of the Junior High Ski/Snowboard Club. He also served on several building and district committees. Brent's positive attitude, love of teaching, and professionalism served as a model for new foreign language teachers.

Ilene Coffeen

Ilene Coffeen has worked in the D.C. Everest District since 1988. She has primarily been at Weston, but also served Hatley. Ilene's greatest contribution was promoting the love of reading. She created an IMC and library collection to be envied. Working with staff to select materials, Ilene encouraged reading and provided materials for classes. Her reading incentive kickoffs with bands, special guests and beautiful displays were sights to behold.

Vicki Coleman

The year 1976 marked the start of Vicki Coleman's teaching career at Evergreen Elementary. Over the course of her tenure, Vicki made many contributions to Evergreen and to the district. Not only did Vicki serve as a teacher building representative, she also helped to develop the Caring Kids program, and provided leadership to the United Way campaigns. Vicki was committed to helping children develop life-long skills and worked hard each day to give kids choices to help them develop into responsible citizens.

Dan Endrizzi

Dan Endrizzi began teaching in the district in 1982 at Hatley and became the heart of Hatley school. Known for his quiet integrity and his respect for all, Dan has led the school through many curricular and co-curricular initiatives and served for years as Teacher-in-Charge. In addition, he is the keeper of many of Hatley's traditions as he conducts UNICEF bake sales every year, prepares the choral reading for the holiday program, and organizes and coaches a Hatley baseball team every spring. Dan's generosity and dedication to the well-being of the Easton/Hatley staff and children has been incomparable.

Joyce Endrizzi

Joyce Endrizzi was appointed to teach first and second grade at Hatley in 1977. In 1978, Mrs. Endrizzi started teaching kindergarten and has taught at Easton, Hatley, Riverside, Schofield, and Rothschild. Joyce is known for her rapport with students and peers, making all feel special. She is a team player contributing without hesitation to the mission of D.C. Everest.

Julie Feltz

As an avid traveler, Julie Feltz’s experiences around the world meshed perfectly with her efforts to bring social studies to life for her students. As a colleague, Julie’s confident wit was always able to lighten the mood and bring about laughter. Mrs. Feltz’s 36-year commitment to DCE students and their learning is something our community will continue to appreciate.

Jeanette Goetsch

Jeanette Goetsch began her career as a Cook II at the junior high in 1986. She transferred to Schofield as a cafeteria server in 1987. During her 23 years she saw many changes in the way food service programs work. During her tenure, a breakfast program was introduced at Schofield and lots of new and different equipment installed to help prepare healthier meals. Jeanette was a member of the School Nutrition Association and always did her best to be sure that students were sent to the classroom ready to learn.

Rebecca Harris

Becky Harris dedicated her 35-year career to students at Weston Elementary. She was the IMC director for one year and since then has taught fourth grade. Becky's interest in and caring for her students and their lives outside of school was constant, even after they left Weston. At all times Becky was committed to her students and their success, dedicating extra time and resources to help whenever needed.

Bart Heckendorf

Beginning with the development of DCE's original curriculum, Bart Heckendorf played a central role in the health education of DCE's students for 34 years. Students have been captivated by the thought-provoking, and often humorous, manner in which Mr. Heckendorf promoted healthy living. More often known as "Coach," Bart shared countless hours developing, encouraging and teaching athletes at all levels and in multiple sports. Bart's contributions to our district are notable and appreciated by the decades of students he's served!

Karen Kelbley

Karen Kelbley joined the D.C. Everest faculty in 1976, teaching first grade at Weston, Riverside and Schofield. She moved to third and fourth grades in 1996. As Unit II leader at Schofield, she was very supportive of the implementation of the PCL Guided Reading program and of Schofield's Above/Below the Line student behavior program. While teaching grade level and life skills, Karen was always concerned for her students, parents and staff. Willing to try new teaching approaches and techniques, Karen also welcomed volunteers into her classroom and appreciated the extra resources and contributions.

Terry Marcott

Terry Marcott's commitment to D.C. Everest began in 1983 when he was hired as senior high custodial building supervisor. In April 2007, he became the Supervisor of Maintenance and Operations for the district. Over the years, Terry acquired an extensive knowledge of district facilities and its operational readiness. Terry is known for his ability to get along with everyone, dedication to improvement, and a great sense of humor.

Lynn Martin

Lynn Martin began teaching at Evergreen Elementary in 1977. During her time at Evergreen, anyone who heard Lynn's gentle, patient voice as she guided young children knew that she cared deeply for all her students. Lynn's many contributions to the district include playing a key role in the nationally published Caring Kids program, serving as a building representative for her peers, providing leadership for the UNICEF committee, and bringing learning to life by finding meaningful ways to deliver her curriculum each and every day.

Thomas Owens

Thomas Owens, Assistant Superintendent, Business/Personnel Services, joined D.C. Everest's administrative team in 1978 after teaching social studies for eight years. Dr. Owens is the authority in financial knowledge of the district and its programs. Tom kept a good balance between supporting the district's educational programs and being mindful of the taxpayers' ability to pay for those programs. He always believed the mission of the business office was to support the educational programs of the district and made sure what we do has a positive impact on the lives of children. Tom's expertise, as well as his positive and jovial attitude will be missed.

Mary Prill

Mary Prill has been a cognitive disabilities teacher at Weston since 1986. Known for her deep commitment to her students, she at all times advocated for them. She continued to be proactive and did her best to meet the needs of her students throughout her career. Mary has been a leader in Autism awareness and an encouraging mentor to new and veteran staff working with students with disabilities.

Phil Schnell

Phil Schnell joined the Schofield faculty in 1984 as a fourth grade teacher, moving to Rothschild in 1992 to teach fourth, fifth and sixth grades. He became a Title I reading teacher in 2000 at Weston and area parochial schools. Phil loved working with the students in small group intervention lessons and said he had some great moments in teaching Title I. His creative teaching and expertise in technology were key to the development of the D.C. Everest District Title I handbook and in the development of our Title I website.

Mary Smith

Mary Smith first joined the D.C. Everest team from 1972-1974 at the Senior High. She then moved to Colorado and taught for two years before returning to Everest in 1976 to teach eighth and ninth grade English. Mary was instrumental in developing the English EDGE program for gifted students. In addition, she enjoyed advising the school newspaper and forensics teams and served on numerous district-wide committees. Mary also served as a Junior High Team Leader. In this position, she was an advocate for less fortunate students and her positive nature influenced other staff to be the best they could be.

Joan Wadzinski

Joan Wadzinski was hired in June 1983 as a part-time custodian at the Junior High and retired in September 2009. She was committed to athletics, making sure the locker rooms were kept clean and uniforms were always in tip-top shape. She constantly had the athletic equipment ready to go for the next season. Joan was always available for athletes who needed a uniform repaired or exchanged. Her sewing expertise was used for everything from vinyl repair to sewing curtains for the health room.

Marcie Wermund

Marcie Wermund joined the D.C. Everest faculty in 1972. She taught at Easton, Hatley, Riverside, Rothschild and Weston. Marcie did not want students to just learn about music, but also to develop a lifelong enjoyment and appreciation of it. Students benefited from her continual professional development studies, such as the addition of a drumming and rhythm program at Weston.
